Warning: Do Not Read

WARNING: READING BANNED BOOKS MAY EXPOSE YOU TO NEW IDEAS, FORCE YOU TO CHALLENGE YOUR ASSUMPTIONS, GENERATE EMPATHY AND UNDERSTANDING, AND HELP YOU SCRUTINIZE CONTROVERSIAL IDEAS AND TABOO TOPICS

Don't let anyone else tell you what you must read or what you must think. Your library will always help you read and listen to the ideas of others.

Reflecting Our Community; Defending Your Right to Read

This February 19-25, SPL celebrates Freedom to Read Week, along with libraries across Canada. This is an issue that's dear to our hearts every year, but this year, it means a little extra. Across North America, libraries have faced an unprecedented number of challenges to our collections.

There are patterns to the challenges. Materials reflecting the lives of people of colour, or LGBTQIA+ communities are far more likely to be challenged. A PEN America study run from July 2021 - June 2022 indicates that 41% of books challenged in that period featured LGBTQIA+ themes or content. Meanwhile, 40% featured protagonists or prominent secondary characters of colour.

The challenges are becoming violent, and some have shut down programs or even entire libraries. Stratford Public Library remains proud to reflect our entire community. Join us in celebrating all that we are here in Stratford by exercising your Freedom to Read. We're stronger together!

Come to the library from February 19-25 to select from our displays of banned and challenged books, read some powerful ideas, and enter a draw for prizes!
